DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The exact structure and method of making the device are not clearly defined.

In independent claims 1, 5 and 6, the reference to a "super junction structure" is not understood or clearly defined. How does this junction differ from the other junctions in the device?

The reference to the drift layers and the RESURF layers being "laterally arranged in alternate relation" is not clearly understood. How are these respective regions physically integrated with each other? Do they contact each other?

The recitation that the RESURF layers are provided along an interior wall of a trench is vague as to their precise location.

The recitation that the drift layers have an isolation region present between the RESURF layer and the substrate is unclear. For example, when comparing the claim language along with the embodiment of the invention shown in FIG. 1, it is not seen where an isolation region is formed that is distinguishable from the rest of the drift region (3). Is the recited "isolation region" in any way different from the rest of the drift region?

With respect to the method described in claims 5 and 6, what is the physical extent of the RESURF layer which is implanted along the trench sidewall? Is the RESURF implant limited to a certain physical location?

Overall, the specific structural and process features of the claimed invention are not clearly understood. Art Unit: 2895
